Mosquito Money

At 7:30 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 29, Miami started another day on the front lines of America's fight against the Zika virus. Dozens of pickup trucks pulled out of Miami-Dade County's mosquito-control department, west of the airport, carrying fumigation equipment that blankets city streets in clouds of bug-killing fog. The trucks headed to the area's two Zika hot zones: Wynwood, Miami's hip arts district, where the U.S.'s first locally transmitted case of the virus was discovered in July, and a 20-block stretch of Miami Beach. Among the fleet of trucks, all of which were driven by local contractors and county workers, was a small Jeep. At the wheel was Linda Kothera, an expert in mosquito insecticide resistance. Riding shotgun was Joanie Kenney, a virologist. Both work for the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Together, they make up half the agency's four-person Zika emergency response team on the ground in Miami. It's a bare-bones crew given the threat the virus poses not only to the city but also to the rest of the U.S. if it's allowed to spread. Since arriving on Aug. 17, the two CDC experts have spent their days driving around Miami to set out and collect mosquito traps. Each black canister, the size of a 5-gallon bucket, contains an oil that reeks of human body odor to attract the Aedes aegypti mosquito, which carries the virus. The data they collect are used to map the insects' population, so local authorities know where Zika has spread. Despite the prospect of a potentially devastating viral outbreak, gridlock has hobbled the federal response and left the burden of fighting Zika almost entirely on the back of state and local governments. Without a vaccine, the key to stopping Zika from spreading is to kill mosquitoes. In Florida, that responsibility falls to localities. The CDC can only advise on mosquito-control policy. The U.S. is also caught flat-footed because of years of fragmented and underfunded mosquito-control efforts. When it comes to mosquito control, there's no real solid organized response.

5 europskih zemalja koje nemaju niti jednog aerodroma

Da, da, iako je zračni promet već desetljećima najbrži način za dolazak s jednog mesta na drugo, neke su europske države i dan-danas bez aerodroma. Naravno, treba otvoreno reći kako se radi o površinom prilično malim državama, ali svejedno, da biste u njih došli avionom, morate prijeći granicu – cestovnim ili morskim putem!

Vatikan

Najmanja država na svijetu i da hoće, teško bi negdje mogla smjestiti zračnu luku. Prostire se tek na 0,44 kvadratna kilometra, a nalazi se usred Rima, koji ionako ima dva međunarodna aerodroma. Stoga ovdje sletite malo izvan grada, dovezete se javnim prijevozom do Rima i nakon razgledavanja Koloseuma, Galerije Borghese i sličnog zaputite se u Vatikan vidjeti papu.

San Marino

Kad smo već kod Italije, i San Marino, država koju je osnovao "naš čovjek", stolar Marin s Raba, nema aerodrom. Radi se o petoj najmanjoj državi na svijetu, a i ona je, baš kao i Vatikan, "zaključana" Italijom. Najблиži joj je aerodrom Federico Fellini u Riminiju, smješten petnaestak kilometara dalje, pa nešto više od 30 tisuća žitelja San Marina ako želi letjeti avionom mora skoknuti do tog grada.

Monako

Ovu kneževinu s tri strane okružuje Francuska, a s četvrte – Mediteransko more. Monako, najnapučenija zemlja svijeta, također nema zračnu luku, a najbliža je udaljena pola sata, u Nici. Unatoč tome što je bez aerodroma, Monako se ima čime podižiti, primjerice utrkom Formule 1, a tu su naravno i luksuzi koje je teško uopće i zamisliti...

Lihtenštajn

Zemlja s ponosom nosi titulu najmanje države svijeta koja graniči s dvije zemlje – Austrijom i Švicarskom. Automobil, željeznica, ali i brod, moguća su prijevozna sredstva kojima se može ući u zemlju, a najbliži aerodrom nalazi se u švicarskom St. Gallenu. Ipak, baš briga stanovnike ove zemlje, možda nemaju aerodrom, ali sudeći po uvjetima života, u Lihtenštajnu žive kao bubrezi u loju...

Andora

Smještena između Francuske i Španjolske, na priličnom brdskom terenu, Andora je zemlja u kojoj možete uživati u planinarenju i skijanju. Glavni grad Andorra la Vella može se pohvaliti time da je glavni grad na najvišoj nadmorskoj visini u Europi. Ipak, za let avionom morat ćete odabrati neki od aerodroma u susjednim zemljama.

Raspon bodova prolaznih ocjena:	odličan (5) – 91-100 osvojenih bodova vrlo dobar (4) – 79-90 osvojenih bodova

4. Translate the following article into Croatian:

A picture of a house in Dalmatia, surrounded by mountains and the threatening grey skies of winter becomes a hit on Facebook, thanks to the trusty old German flag.

If you're anything like me, then you're a (not so secret) lover of memes. Croatian memes can get quite dark, given the often murky waters that a lot of the country's political events are staged in, but once you reach a certain level of desensitisation, you can crack a grin at most of them. Not all of them are politically based, which is a first indeed for a country that asks you what ties you have to any political party when merely opening a current account, and one page in particular is a hit across the country.

The extremely popular Facebook page Dnevna doza projecnog Dalmatinca (A daily dose of the average Dalmatian) is a usually light hearted take on the funny and often odd activities undertaken in Dalmatia. From innovative ways to dry out the famous prosciutto from Drnis to giant inflatable flamingos precariously tied to cars travelling down motorways - this Facebook page covers it all.

Recently, a photo of a house in Dalmatia appeared on the page. This house in Dalmatia was nothing outstanding, quite the opposite in fact. But the sight of the Croatian flag flying alongside the German flag drew in some interesting and funny comments from social media users.

As Poslovni Dnevnik writes, the house in Dalmatia, more specifically a photo from Kastela, speaks volumes with its flying of the German flag, a flag which many Croats worship.

Ako vrijedate na Twitteru, možete očekivati kaznu i suspenziju

I do sada je na Twitteru, koliko je to naravno moguće kada je u pitanju društvena mreža, bilo određenih kazni za uvredljive komentare. Objave koje su prelazile granicu dobrog ukusa, poštivanja sugovornika i općenito normalne rasprave bile su izbrisane, a korisnički računi koji su ponavljali "kaznena djela" čak i brisani s ove društvene mreže. Naravno da se u "žaru rasprave" ponekad zna pretjerati, stoga su mnogi bili nezadovoljni permanentnim brisanjem računa s Twittera, pravdujući se da "zaslužuju još jednu šansu da se poprave", što će im, ako je suditi po iskustvima nekih korisnika posljednjih dana, biti omogućeno.

Dio korisnika je prijavio kako su im na 12 sati limitirani korisnički računi, izbrisane objave koje su detektirane uvredljivima, da bi nakon isteka navedenog vremena sve bilo vraćeno u potpunu normalu. Brzo je otkriveno da se radi o novoj mjeri koju Twitter uvodi za one koji se "zaigraju". Kada i ako se ogriješite o pravila ponašanja i objavite "potencijalno uvredljiv sadržaj", dobiti ćete privremenu suspenziju na 12 sati. U tom roku će vaše objave biti vidljive samo vašim pratiteljima na Twitteru, nakon toga će se sve vratiti u potpunu funkcionalnost, osim što će neprimjerene objave biti u potpunosti obrisane. Ako se pak dogodi da učestalo ponavljate ovakve incidente, nije isključen ni potpuni "ban" s ove društvene mreže.

And you the mutinous members; for examine

No public benefit which you receive
But it proceeds or comes from them to you
And no way from yourselves

b) Forget not, in your speed, Antonius,
To touch Calpurnia; for our elders say,
The barren, touched in this holy chase,
Shake off their sterile curse.

In gross'd by swift impress; in Caesar's fleet

Shall fall you for refusing him at sea,
Being prepared for land

Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The slings and arrows of outrageous fortune,
Or to take arms against a sea of troubles,
And by opposing end them? To die: to sleep;
No more; and by a sleep to say we end
The heart-ache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to, 'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wish'd.
